

Lecturer in Forensic Anthropology - teaching only (fixed term)

Contract Type

Fixed Term

Hours

Full Time

Job Type

Academic

Salary

£34,304 – £40,927 per annum

Vacancy Type

Academic / Research Vacancies

Closing Date

21/11/2021

Ref No

3477

Documents

- 3477 JD Lecturer in Forensic Anthropology \(fixed-term teaching only\).pdf
(PDF, 538.13kb)

The School of Biological & Environmental Sciences is seeking to appoint a fixed-term (12 month) full-time Lecturer with experience in teaching and supervising undergraduate and postgraduate students in Forensic Anthropology. You will be expected to contribute to lectures and practicals on campus and also field-based teaching. We would welcome applications from candidates with forensic or consultancy experience and/or expertise in environmental or science-based archaeology. The ability to teach excavation techniques in the field would be desirable.

Informal enquiries may be made to Professor Joel Irish (Subject Leader in Anthropology) on 0151 231 2387, email j.d.irish@ljam.ac.uk or Dr Richard Jennings (Programme Leader in Forensic Anthropology and Human Evolution and Behaviour) on 0151 231 2421, email R.P.Jennings@ljam.ac.uk.

<https://www.ljmu.ac.uk/about-us/faculties/faculty-of-science/school-of-biological-and-environmental-sciences>

The School/ department is committed to promoting equality and diversity, including the Athena SWAN Gender Equality charter for promoting the career of Women in STEM (science, technology, engineering, mathematics) in higher education. We particularly welcome applications from women for this post and all appointments will be made on merit.

Please note all of our vacancies will be closed to applications at midnight on the advertised closing date, unless otherwise stated.

Send to a friend

Apply Now